South Carolina American Revolution Sestercentennial Commission

Chartered by the SC General Assembly in 2018, " ... a proper observance of the Sestercentennial (250th Anniversary) of the American Revolution in South Carolina ..."

Revolution Era 1770-1783 The true goal of the SC250 Commission is to discover our stories, document the Revolution's impacts on all peoples, and help local communities put in place cultural heritage tourism assets that continue to provide destinations and tell our stories long after the Commission is concluded.

We want to have diverse and inclusive representation from historical organizations, heritage groups, elected officials, and individuals with representatives from all areas of the county.

The process of launching a new and independent government in the Province of South Carolina formally began on July 6, 1774 when leading men in South Carolina met in Charlestown. Tired of British officials not meeting their needs, the group elected five delegates to the First Continental Congress in Philadelphia. At that same meeting, they created the Committee of 99, which soon became the "de facto" government of South Carolina.

SC American Revolution Sestercentennial Commission (SC250) is encouraging each South Carolina county to create their own County 250 Committee in their honor. There should be only one official committee per county.

Below are the steps to become the "official" SC County 250 Committee:

 Verify Whether or Not Your County Already Has A Committee: SC250 would like there to be only one "official" SC250 Committee in each county. Email info@SouthCarolina250.com to check.
